

Pastoral Wellbeing Worker

Applications for the role of Pastoral Wellbeing Worker are invited.

Prince of Peace Lutheran Church's vision is to be an oasis of wellbeing connection for young and the old, the seen and unseen. The Pastoral Wellbeing Worker is to grow and lead the wellbeing of Prince of Peace church through connections between multi-generational groups and individuals found in our church, college, and community.

This ministry role will have two core areas:

- Youth and Young Adult Connector - Lead and organise effective youth and young adult programs and empower congregational members to be wellbeing connection points to those youth & young adults.
- Discipleship Groups and Events Connector- Lead and organize effective intergenerational connection groups that foster spiritual, emotional, and mental wellbeing.

The successful candidate will:

- Be a practicing Christian who supports a Lutheran understanding of the Gospel.
- Have a passionate pastoral heart for people of all generations.
- Is well-organised and proactive.
- Is a team player.

Ideally commencing in late 2023, the Pastoral Wellbeing Worker reports directly to the congregational pastor, Pastor Nick Mullen. Prince of Peace Lutheran Church is in Everton Hills, in the northern suburbs of Brisbane.

A competitive, flexible salary package will be negotiated based on the capability of the successful candidate, and will be based on the Social, SHADS Award.

Interested applicants should first contact the Pastor Nick Mullen at nmullen@princeofpeace.org.au to discuss their application and receive a copy of the Job Description.

Applications for this position close COB Monday 18th September 2023.

Prince of Peace is committed the safeguarding of children and vulnerable adults, and as part of the application process will undertake rigorous screening, including referee checks, criminal record checks and working with children checks, where applicable.